Dear Parishioners and Visitors,

This weekend we have the simultaneous celebrations of Holy Trinity Sunday and Father’s Day. Both the concept of “God” and the image of “father” have changed over the centuries.

Of all the nations and civilizations in history, the ancient Israelites alone held fast to one God. Originally they presumed that He was concerned about them alone, while other gods took care of other peoples. It took longer to realize that their God was the only God, and even longer to recognize that He cared for all peoples. The majesty of God and his Law were (and are) central to the identity of the Jews, even as their land was conquered and occupied over and over. Creator, Protector, Lawgiver are images that predominate in the Old Testament. It was Jesus who left us the gift of “daring to say” Our Father to that majestic and eternal God! With this foundation, it took four hundred more years for Christians to accept the mystery that one God was a Trinity of Persons – a God of dynamic, eternal Love.

Regarding father, a similar development has happened. From the earliest human communities, the idea of “father” was connected with doing and action: a protector, a hunter, a “breadwinner,” a mentor, the “head of the house,” to name a few. These and other characteristics have morphed as time has gone by, and some new dimensions have emerged. For example, fathers are not expected to hunt for food for the family; but there is an expectation of fathers being regularly involved with day-to-day responsibilities in the household (shopping, cooking, and hygiene). More and more, spouses recognize the importance of listening to each other and working together when dealing with more important decisions, too.

The point of these very broad and imperfect summaries? Both celebrations remind us that our experiences of God and fathers are part of a larger learning experience stretching through the generations of our human family. We still only see imperfectly, but we are adding richness to what we have received. ~ Fr. Jim

VIRTUS ~ Training & Child Lures Program Deployed in Parishes to Ensure a Safe Environment

As the Diocese of Rockville Centre Office for the Protection of Children and Young People works to oversee that the mandates of The Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People (The Charter) are being followed throughout the diocese (see related story), dedicated staff and volunteers at the parish level have stepped up to ensure young people remain safe.

The diocese uses the safe environment program called VIRTUS, which was created by the National Catholic Retention Group, Inc. and “is the brand name that identifies best practices programs designed to help prevent wrongdoing and promote ‘right doing’ within religious organizations,” according to virtusonline.org. The word virtus comes from the Latin meaning valor, moral strength, excellence and worth.

“VIRTUS is a very solid program with a good track record,” said Mary McMahon, LCSW, director of the diocesan Office for the Protection of Children and Young People. All clergy, employees and volunteers in the diocese are required to take a VIRTUS class, she said. VIRTUS classes are offered at parishes throughout the diocese every day, in English and Spanish. The classes offer presentations on the prevention of child sexual abuse, making participants aware of the signs of abuse, the methods and means of how offenders commit abuse, and steps used to prevent such abuse.

“We receive inquiries every week from individuals asking if they are required to attend VIRTUS because they already attended New York State training for mandated reporters,” McMahon said. “The answer is absolutely yes!” and here’s why: VIRTUS offers the perspective that child safety is the responsibility of the entire community; all of us need to be watchful, responsible & vigilant.”

POWERING CHILDREN you know that the Bible writes about you?”

Kathy Knott of the Church of St. Joseph in Babylon begins all of her Think First & Stay Safe Child Lures Prevention presentations to children in Grades 1 ~ 6 with the same question. “Yes!” she continues, holding up a Bible as they ponder the question. “In the Psalms, the Bible says you are fearfully and wonderfully made by the God who loves you.” She tells them God gave them a heart, which tells them how to be compassionate and kind. It also tells their mind what to do: “It tells you to Think First & Stay Safe,” she says.

The Think First & Stay Safe program, which the diocese mandated starting this year for all parishes, educates grade-school children in age-appropriate, non-frightening ways about bullying, child abuse, child luring, child abduction and other forms of child victimization, according to the Child Lures Prevention website, childluresprevention.com. Knott said she strives to empower children to make good decisions. “One of the tools your brain uses is your gut,” she tells them. “If the gut tells you there’s danger, there’s danger. Your gut is never wrong! It never fails! Never ignore your gut feelings.”

“The expression on the little faces says, ‘I’ve got this, I know what my gut feels like. I can say ‘no!’ I can say ‘stop!’” she said. Knott attended a VIRTUS class more than 12 years ago as a catechist for children with special needs. “I knew I wasn’t part of the problem,” she said, “but I heard the call to be part of the solution.” In addition to presenting the Child Lures Prevention program in her parish, she is also a VIRTUS facilitator and travels to other parishes to present both programs. A team of volunteers and catechists at the Church of St. Hugh of Lincoln in Huntington Station worked together to present the Child Lures Prevention program to the students and included a presentation for parents as well. On a Saturday in January, the team presented Think First & Stay Safe to the students with their parents present; then as the students enjoyed bagels and juice, the parents were given a separate presentation on abuse prevention by the Safe Center of Long Island.

“It was very well received, and the day wasn’t too long for busy families,” said Helen Schramm, director of religious education at St. Hugh. “It also gave parents an opportunity to hear the information their children are receiving in our program in regard to their safety on this very important issue.”

At the Church of Sts. Philip and James in St. James, Rita Byrne has managed to stay on top of all the paperwork required for the parish’s 400 to 500 volunteers in her position as coordinator of volunteers. Byrne upholds the diocesan and parish policy that every new volunteer at the parish is required to fill out a packet of forms before he or she can volunteer. “If there’s no VIRTUS certificate attached, then they can’t volunteer,” said Byrne. After a volunteer’s packet is complete, Byrne enters the information into the parish and diocesan data system for background screening.

All volunteers in the diocese undergo a background check and are rescreened every five years. They also sign a form stating they received and read a code of conduct outlining expected, acceptable behaviors. The VIRTUS training, background screening and code of conduct all meet Mandate 2 of The Charter. It’s a lot of detail,” Byrne said of her job.

“I’m getting it down to a science now. People know what to expect. The purpose is protect kids. I tell people, ‘It may be more paperwork for you, but it’s a good thing.’ Some people will say, ‘But I’m not doing [any volunteering] with children,’ but it doesn’t matter—everyone is required to go through this process.” Byrne’s work is only part of her volunteer position at the parish, but she said it pays to devote the time to it.

“I think I’ve got a pretty good handle on it, but it’s a learning curve,” she said. “I’m learning something new every day. It’s manageable once you get it into a system.” “God First, kids first!”

One Last Step for Parishkind

Monday morning, after 9am mass, as the contractors removed the shrubbery from the front bridge, a few of us paused for one last selfie on the soon to be no more bridge.

Regarding the parish renovation projects, here is a follow up to last week's announcement. The first project (the side stairways) is finally complete. Some cosmetic work is still being done during the week, but they are open for use.

Now, the challenging part—the front entrance bridge. Preparation work began on June 10th. (See picture above.) The actual removal is planned to start on Monday, June 17th.

- This means that the only entrances to the church for the time it takes to rebuild it will be the side stairways.

- We explored a temporary bridge, but it is out of the question for safety and code reasons.
- We looked into another site – Suffolk Community College – but they could not guarantee one set place. Other possibilities were ruled out by being out of the parish (VFW or Elks on Horseblock Rd.)

The only realistic option is keeping the Mass schedule for those who can come in by the side stairways. (A list of Masses in neighboring parishes is in this bulletin and copies are in the lobby.) The contractor is the same one we used for the side steps and the rail fabricator already has the specs. We are hoping that the summer months will be enough time to have a new entrance installed (which will not be a bridge). We will keep you informed.

Proposed Schedule of Work
